

Bell companies operate as public service companies even though they derive income from the service they provide. To allow a public service company the ability to not do business with a supposed competitor would cripple the '96 Telecom Act. Chairman Powell: Please do not sell out to BIG BUSINESS, at the expense of competition and the small businesses of our country.